THESE WE REMEMBER

First days of the new year, new faces, new teachers . . . the familiar sound of the 8:30 bell, classes, study hall, homework . . . limping football players, skinned noses and blackeyes . . . the shrill cry of the referee's whistle, the scoreboard, foul shots . . . examinations, cramming the night before, anxiety until grades are in . . . glee club, concerts, barber shop harmony . . . holidays, weekends . . . big events—senior play, junior play, junior-senior banquet, commencement exercises. These and many others—but most of all the people who are presented on the following pages.

DEDICATION

TO MRS. C. R. CRENSHAW

For her many acts of kindness and consideration;
For her advice as a teacher and as a friend;
For her help as advisor in the many problems seniors face;
For all her understanding and solicitude;
We, the senior class of 1951, wish to dedicate our book of memories as a token of our appreciation for all she has done.

CLASS HISTORY

In the office of the principal there is a very important object. Yes, I am the telephone and the property of the whole school—teachers, students, visitors, and I'm even used by the different salesmen. People would really be surprised if they knew just how much I've heard and seen during the many years I've been sitting on the desk in Mr. Farthing's office.

Especially I noticed the class of nineteen-hundred fifty-one of Mocksville High School with their eyes gleaming, and a happy look on their faces as they entered high school in September nineteen-hundred forty-seven. That year proved to be an exciting year for those freshmen, because they had taken the first step towards that diploma. I remember peeping out of the office window and seeing Nan Bowden crowned queen of the Halloween carnival. I was so jealous when Eddie Extension was lucky enough to be used on one of the floats. Of course he told me all about it, but still I was a little peeved. The freshman float, with an opossum in a tree, won first prize for the best float. These freshmen took an interest in the inter-class tournament, and the freshmen girls won.

During the summer I was deserted in the gloomy office. Oh! how I envied the students I could see playing out of doors. A few times during the summer someone tried to call, but I just couldn't move.

In the fall those freshmen were back, but this year they were sophomores. I was very proud of them that year, because Nancy Latham was crowned queen of the Halloween carnival. That year Mrs. Luce's Latin class had a genuine Roman Banquet. Many of the sophomores were members of that class. Towards the end of that year the sophomores began looking forward to the next year because they would be juniors.

In the fall of '49, I don't think I have ever seen any group as busy as those juniors. That year Nancy Latham was elected president. At every football game, they sold refreshments. I could see them every Thursday and Friday rushing around getting ready for the game that night. I must mention, too, that my cousin, Eddie Extension, got a season ticket. He got to see every game from his seat in the concession stand. I honestly think I'll have to sue the Central Telephone Company.

At the R. E. A. picnic in September, the juniors were in charge of refreshments to help raise money for their banquet. After all the working and slaving, those juniors got the money for the banquet. After much discussion and debating, the Statesville Country Club was decided upon as the place. With the help of that modern invention radar, I saw those juniors decorate for the banquet. I guess I fixed Eddie Extension that time! They rushed around like bees; some painted mirrors, some hung umbrellas and some fixed place cards. The program of the banquet was based upon the theme, "April Showers," with Bill Benson as Al Jolson, master of ceremonies. He interviewed different celebrities —members of the junior class. I surely wish I could have gone to that banquet because it was tops in entertainment.

One morning in the spring of '50, I heard a conversation. Yes, the man was coming to measure for the rings. I don't think I've ever seen a group as happy as those juniors the day they ordered their rings.

On August 30, 1950, those juniors became the seniors of Mocksville High School. Maxine Griffith was elected president of the senior class. Not long after school opened, their rings came. The gleam in their eyes then was almost as bright as the sparkle of those new rings.

Boy, during that senior year, Eddie Extension wasn't even competition for me. When the senior play, "Almost Eighteen," was given I was the telephone who sat on the stage. I can just see Eddie now. He was so jealous.

Those seniors worked on their Halloween float, and it won first prize. That huge pumpkin was definitely the most original float in the parade.

The magazine contest was a great occasion.

Next year's basketball team won't seem right without those seniors on the varsity. Nancy Latham and Cathryn Neely are co-captains of the girls team this year. Incidently, they are the only seniors on it. The seniors players on the boys team are Bill Sofley and Guy Hartman.

During this senior year of course, there is the annual. Jean Smith was chosen editor, and she is really doing a swell job of it. Eddie and I have bought one together, but I don't think it's going to work out.

Hi-Life, the school paper, is published by the seniors, with Nancy Latham as editor. I really like this year's papers because I got my picture in it.

Now that great day has arrived, some are happy; some are sad. It doesn't seem anytime since I saw them, as freshmen, but those high school days are over and they will be taking their places in life. I guess maybe today both Eddie and I will get to see those proud seniors receive their diplomas. I know that if Eddie Extension goes to watch graduation, I'm going, too!

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the members of the graduating class of 1951 of Mocksville High School, do hereby assemble our Last Will and Testament.

To the faculty, whose helping hand enabled us to reach this goal, we will our highest tributes.

To the underclassmen we leave the knowledge we didn't get, with the hope they will take advantage of it.

I, Cornell Allen, bequeath my ability to "bowl over" the women to my brother, "Pee Wee."

I, Joe Ann Allen, will my wit to Harrell Powell.

I, Dot Anderson, leave my ceaseless chatter to Gerylene Vick.

I, Bill Benson, bequeath my executive ability to Glenda Madison.

I, Henry Boger, will my little yellow jeep to William Beeding.

I, Lawrence Carter, bequeath my title of most handsome to Harley Howell.

I, Odus Chaffin, will my ability to grow tall to George Winters.

I, Jane Click, leave my love for music to Jimmy Anderson so he can entertain the Glee Club.

I, Lois Collins, leave my womanly charm to Betty Jean McDaniel.

I, Doris Cook, will my ability to get out of study hall to the underclassmen.

I, Dorothy Dyson, bequeath my quiet ways and shyness to Doris Wall. I know everyone will appreciate this.

I, Ruby Nell Everhart, will my ability to keep a steady boy friend to Ann Hendrix, although she seems to be doing all right without it.

I, Guy Farthing, bequeath my yells to Joe Murphy, providing he exerts as much energy yelling them as I have.

I, Joe Ferebee, leave my laugh to anyone who will take it.

I, Mary Frye, will my tenacity to Billie Davis, hoping it will bring her the results it has brought me.

I, Maxine Griffith, bequeath my friendly disposition to Jo Ann Call.

I, Guy Hartman, leave my cheerful personality to Charlie Johnson so he can keep the students of M. H. S. smiling.

I, Claude Horn, bequeath my scientific knowledge to Miss Martin to distribute as she wishes to future students.

I, Chester James, leave my seriousness of purpose to Harold Rollins.

I, John Johnstone, will my ability to say the right thing at the right time to Jimmy Carter.

I, Clyde Lakey, leave my cute ways to the Junior boys, so they can have as much fun at M. H. S. as I have had.

I, Nancy Latham, bequeath my ability to play basketball to Margaret Cozart, although she is doing nicely without it.

I, Jane McBride, will my quietness to Nancy Boger, because she needs it.

I, Cathryn Neely, leave to Carmen Green my hair of many colors. Please keep the color constantly changing.

I, Willie Mae Peoples, will my place as a dignified senior to the junior girls. Enjoy it as much as I have.

I, Ann Poston, bequeath my ability to get what I go after to Betty Adams.

I, Edith Potts, leave my laughing ways to Frances Wall, so she can enjoy life.

I, Jimmy Powell, will all the traits which make me the biggest pest to Lloyd Farthing.

I, Madeline Richardson, leave my love for books to my sister, Virginia.

I, Edith Salmons, will my high ideals to Rosaline Steelman.

I, Judy Slate, leave my giggles to Margaret Edwards to add to her own.

I, Bill Sofley, will anything I own, except my Freshman, to anyone who will have it.

I, Jane Smith, leave my vivaciousness to Edwina Long, so Miss Lippard's English classes will continue to be interesting.

I, Jean Smith, leave my intelligence to be divided among those who need it.

I, Mary Elizabeth Smith, bequeath my pretty complexion to Elaine Eaton.

I, Maxine Smith, bequeath my dependability to Frankie Junker.

I, Nancy Stroud, leave my place as typist on Hi-Life staff to anyone who will work as hard as I have.

I, Bobby Tenery, will my bus to Calvin Prevette.

I, Roger Whittaker, will my ability to always have a girl friend to James Roberts.

I, Sara Wilson, leave my ability to eat anything at anytime and still stay thin to Johnsie Miller.

I, Estelle Wright, will my temper to my sister, Julia. It has to be kept in the family.

We, the members of the senior class of 1951, do hereby solemnly proclaim this to be the only valid statement of our last will and testament.

CLASS PROPHECY

"Operator, get me long distance. The number is Detroit 24376."

"Hello—JEAN—Guess What! I just got a letter from JANE SMITH telling me about several persons who were in our graduating class of '51, and I simply couldn't wait to tell you about them."

"It seems that Jane had been chosen as a juror for the spring term of court in the now huge city of Mocksville. By the way, the school building has been moved from its former location, and the old building was bought by Dr. GUY FARTHING and has been converted into a small hospital. Of course he has another hospital at Statesville, but he leaves his head nurse, WILLIE MAE PEOPLES, in charge of the Statesville one most of the time."

"Jane had to go to court last week and she said that the first case tried was JOHN JOHNSTONE'S. It seems that he had speeded through Mockston, formerly Smith Grove, and that famous highway patrolman, ROGER LEE WHITTAKER caught him. John, charged with speeding (in his "Speedmaster Limousine"), was clocked doing 210 and the speed limit through that industrial city is only 185 miles per hour. These foolish laws! Anybody knows there is no use of poking along that slow, even through that town!"

"The next case was called and BILL BENSON, "the arguing attorney," was soliciting a divorce for CATHRYN NEELY Lipe. I don't see why Cathryn would need a lawyer to talk for her; she used to do very well talking for herself when she was in school."

"Jane said there were some other cases that were pretty serious, but that head juryman JIMMY POWELL, kept insisting that they flip a coin to make the decisions for the majority of the cases. DOROTHY DYSON was the courtroom recorder. She learned her short hand back in high school—mm—nineteen years ago—I must be getting old, too!"

"I was in my kitchen yesterday and turned on my television set and there was "pretty boy" LAWRENCE CARTER. He now has a show every day. He is sponsored by "McBride 'Mater Mush." JANE McBRIDE started growing tomatoes for her 4-H project back in high school. She always was proud of her tomato growing and didn't mind telling others how she did it either. The story goes that MARY FRYE decided there was a future in the tomato market, so she gave Jane her recipe for the tomato mush, which is really just thick tomato soup. Soon they drew up a partnership and began putting plenty of Vitamin C out in cans. Lawrence really has a splendid program. The other day he had that "Soft-Lake" duet on his program, and who did it turn out to be but the former "Krazy Kranks," BILL SOFLEY and CLYDE LAKEY? They did their special version of "Over the Rainbow." Lawrence announced yesterday that JANE CLICK, New York's noted pianist, would be on his show tomorrow. Jane is going to make a concert tour of Russia next week since the iron curtain has been opened. Gossip has it that she is going to a party at Stalin's. On her tour she said she might drop in to visit EDITH SALMONS who is a missionary in Africa."

"In the Mockston-High Life, a first class newspaper owned by EDITH POTTS, I saw an article advertising a rodeo that was coming to town. It features the famous "Bronc Buster," BOBBY "TEX" TENERY. He claims that he can stay on the back of any horse at least one hour, and he can ride standing on his head on some of the most gentle ones—sounds like an acrobat to me!"

"I saw ESTELLE WRIGHT the other day, and she had been on a business trip to Teno, Nevada. On her way back, in Denver she dropped in at the "Maria Smith Salon," that is, owned and operated by MARY ELIZABETH SMITH. Estelle had her hair dyed purple with green bangs while she was there. She also had it permanently waved. They say Mary Elizabeth's greatest rival is NANCY STROUD. Nancy's shop is in New York, but thousands of Mary Elizabeth's patrons go to Nancy trying to get that permanent wave out of their hair. Nancy is the only one who can take it out. She even has the secret of how to keep peroxided hair from becoming streaked. By doing all this, she really draws people to her shop, or should I call that magnificent place a shop?"

"Speaking of discoveries, that great scientist, CLAUDE "Einstein" HORN, has been working on a solution which he calls "Growumtall." This solution is the greatest thing since the discovery of Hadacol back in 1950. Claude claims that it will make anybody, even SARA WILSON, grow tall. Claude chose ODUS CHAFFIN to be his sales manager, but I happen to know that "Growumtall" is not what made Odus grow tall! By the way—Sara is now married and is living on a big dairy farm near Cool Springs."

"I saw JOE FEREBEE the other day; he's a Methodist preacher now, you know; and he said he had been holding a revival in South America. He said while he was in Florida, he noticed this swanky and very alluring restaurant, so he decided that he would splurge—a plate lunch costs $5.89. (I guess that's the truth, he told me so, and he's a preacher.) Despite the cost he ate there at that restaurant. DORIS COOK came out to wait on him. From what he said she must have really been "starched and pressed." Of course she had to be neat to keep up with the appearance of everything else around there. Joe admits that he really had a good meal, so good in fact, that he asked to meet the proprietor of the place to get some of the secrets to take home to his wife. When the proprietor finally wended his way through to Joe, it was none other than CORNELL ALLEN. Cornell told him that the secret really wasn't his, but it was LOIS COLLINS', his head dietitian. Lois got her start back at Mocksville in home economics. There's where she planned her first meal. Lois gave Joe the recipes free, because he was an old school mate of hers."

"Joe then took a bus from Tampa, Florida, to South America. This was made possible by the erection of a new bridge. (They say that GUY HARTMAN figured out exactly how this bridge was to be built.) When Joe got on the bus, the driver was none other than JOE ANN ALLEN. She says that she really likes driving that bus—it's so much easier than driving a school bus. Speaking of Guy Hartman, since he has completed his masterpiece, the bridge, he has built a new mansion. CHESTER JAMES, the great interior decorator, designed Guy's home and it is said to be perfect in every detail. They say Guy certainly is a "gentleman of leisure" now. He has a maid, a cook, and a nurse to take care of the kids. He employed JUDY SLATE to keep his books; she has him booked with so much profit, that the income-tax people collect about $5000 a year from him."

"ANN POSTON is married, settled down, and she now has one girl in college who is on the famous "Latham's Louisiana Lancers" basketball team. NANCY LATHAM is their coach. They have captured "oodles" of trophies. I guess Latham must be as good at coaching as she was at playing."

"Well, what will happen next? Even farming is easy now! MADELINE RICHARDSON, our county farm extension worker, told me the other day that they had radar-controlled tractors with attachments that will simply do anything from milking cows to planting a flower garden. She told me that HENRY BOGER already has one. He just sits on his front porch and touches the button that causes something—goodness knows, I don't know what—anyway things get done in no time at all and with practically no effort. His cost him only $7,637. Cheap, I think."

"I heard the other day that MAXINE GRIFFITH had won the state typing contest for this year of 1970, and due to popular demand, she is now writing a new book called "Typing Techniques." When the book is finished, Koontz and Anderson Printing Co., will be the publishers. This is a relatively new printing company. One of our former classmates, DOROTHY ANDERSON, is a co-owner."

"Well, bouncing butterflies, my paper just came and the headlines say that RUBY NELL EVERHART has been elected Governor of New York to replace Thomas E. Dewey. That was some campaign she waged, wasn't it? She nearly went broke buying cigars."

"Gosh, Jean, I expect I'd better hang up—my boss may come back from lunch anytime now. Here he comes right now! Well, so long, Sis! Bye—"
